

Committed to Student Success

On 16th November 2013 we celebrated our 26th Annual Convocation. The first hosting of the FTMS Convocation on the Bukit Jalil campus is being attended by over 600 guests, including representatives from embassies.

We were pleased to have senior representatives - Professor Gary Packham, Deputy Dean, Research and Enterprise, Lord Ashcroft International Business School from Anglia Ruskin University and Professor Hassan Abdalla, Dean, School of Architecture, Computing and Engineering from University of East London, joining us in this ceremony to celebrate the successes of the students.

We were also pleased to welcome Dr Andrew Platten, Associate Dean Faculty of Arts Environment and Technology from our new collaborative partner Leeds Metropolitan University.

In 2013, FTMS together with Anglia Ruskin University and University of East London have produced total of 355 graduates: 50 Master Degree graduates, 160 Bachelor Degree graduates, 75 Professional Degree graduates and 60 Diploma graduates with employment rate of seventy seven per cent (77%). We are pleased that there was an increase in the grade of degree being awarded at Bachelor level and the number of students gaining a Master's level degree.

